

The peculiar man sat with his scarlet scarf smothering his nose and mouth. The coffee-coloured overcoat rested on the figure and wrapped him like a Christmas tree. He had soft black matted hair with ominous looking aviator goggles.

Pale-looking and exhausted the driver sat in his rusty-looking car. His skin looked drained in colour and the grey-tinged shirt had an open collar with a black tie.