

Active and passive verb forms

Part A – Recap on subject, verb, object: Link each word to its correct definition

Subject	person or thing that the action is done to
Object	an action, or a state of being
Verb	person or thing that does the action

The usual order of these in an English sentence is:

--	--	--

Part B – Passive verbs

Here are two sentences. Underline the subject of each sentence.

Daniel broke his finger.

Daniel's finger was broken.

Sometimes the person or thing that the action is done to appears as the subject of the sentence. Then we use a passive verb form.

To make a verb passive, use a form of the verb "to be" (am, are, is, was, were, be) with the past participle of the action verb (broken, taken, helped, stolen, created, pleased, eaten ...)

Use the preposition by to indicate the person or thing that does the action.

Rewrite each of the following sentences using a passive form of the verb.

1. Greta skilfully milked the cow.
2. The loggers cut down a giant redwood tree.
3. The immune system defends the body from infection.
4. The examiners will carefully mark your papers.
5. A dog bit two children in the park.

Now rewrite these sentences using an active form of the verb:

1. Philip was persuaded to come along by Gloria.
2. Drivers who break the speed limit will be caught by automatic cameras.
3. The field was ploughed by the farmer with his blue tractor.

Part C: What helping verb do we use?

In informal conversation, it's OK to use "get / got" – for example, "It got broken." But in standard written English, you must use "be / is / are" etc: "It was broken."

Don't use get / got in your writing!

Turn the following sentences into standard written English, keeping the passive verbs.

1. Flowers get pollinated by insects.
2. We nearly got caught by the caretaker.
3. Metamorphic rocks get made by getting crushed or heated underground.
