IMPORTANT Parent or Carer – Read this page with your child and check that you are happy with what they have to do and any weblinks or use of internet.

1. Read a blog post

- Read Naughty Dog Blog
- Read through Informal Writing Features. Which of these features can you find in the blog-post? Highlight and annotate the text to show them.

2. Revise Active and Passive Voice

- Use the PowerPoint about active and passive voice and listen to the teaching. If this is not possible, remind yourself using the Revision Card.
- Complete Active and Passive Voice Practice.

3. Now for some writing

- Write a short blog-post about one of these titles:
 - The day of the big match
 - Fire!
 - My kid brother/sister
 - My favourite animal
 - Food
- Include some sentences in the active voice and some in the passive voice.

Well done. Share your writing with a grown-up. Show them which sentences you've written in the active voice and which are written in the passive voice.

Try the Fun-Time Extras

- Read some more blog-posts. Try to find examples of sentences in the active and passive voice.

Naughty Dog Blog

Has anyone else got this dog trouble? I love my dog BUT...

Honestly... I just cannot believe it! Turn your back for just 5 mins and that's it! Another catastrophe has occurred.

Here's my week so far!

Monday – removed my oldest, most P R E C I O U S, soft toy (yes! I have had it since I was a baby!) from my bed and took it downstairs. She's not even supposed to GO upstairs ...

How she got the crown I honestly DO NOT KNOW! I can only assume that she crawled under the desk in my room and it fell on her. Princess or what?

Not a good start to the week – mine not hers I mean!

Tuesday – got into the rubbish bin in the kitchen and created H A V O K, and I mean havoc! She practically destroyed the bin AND stinky horrible yukky slimy bits of old food half-eaten sandwiches rotten fruit disgusting remains potato peelings ancient cheese mum had thrown out and yes, even some porridge that my baby sister hadn't eaten were all over the floor!

To add insult to injury, the dog had been sick – ON the sofa!

I ask you. What can an owner do?

Informal Writing Features

Feature	Example	*
Colloquial, non-Standard English vocabulary	mates rather than acquaintances grabbed the spuds rather than collected the potatoes
Looks and sounds very much like spoken English	Making a paper plane? The best way to use a piece of A4 – ever!
Rhetorical questions and asides	So, what’s new in the world of sport? The weather forecast was good (yeah, right!).
Contains contractions and abbreviations	should’ve rather than should have telly rather than television wanna rather than want to
May use onomatopoeic words	Whoosh, zingy, kaboom!
Makes use of clichés, idiomatic expressions and other figures of speech	You could have knocked the boffins down with a feather rather than Scientists were extremely surprised by the results
Short sentences , sometimes incomplete and using parenthesis , dashes or dots	Mind you, you never know... So – let’s check out what’s new. Football (boring!)
Frequently written in the first person form and making use of second person pronouns	I’m going to tell you why you and your friends will love it rather than It is anticipated that many people will be delighted.
Often uses the active voice	You then join the pieces of wood together instead of The pieces of wood are then joined together.
